The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, August 28. 1716.

London, August 28.

Yesterday arrived the Mail from Holland of Friday last.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Sept. 3.

Avignon, August 20.

TO Day the Pretender performed his Devotions in the Convent of the Bernardine Monks, and dined there, the Vice-Legate accompanying him: Being out of Order, he will be let Blood to Morrow by the Advice of M. Guichault, his own Physician Father Wood being absent. The Capuchin Monks here, have said Masses for the Souls of M. Hall and Paul, executed lately at London. There is great Division among the British Fugitives here; many complain of Mar's taking upon him to order every thing, and wish that Ormond would come hither.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 4.

Leghorne, Aug. 14. Yesterday six Portuguese Men of War, with a Transport-Ship, an Hospital-Ship, a Fire-Ship, and a Tartan, came to an Anchor in our Road, where they are taking on board Provisions, in order to continue their Voyage to joyn the Venetian Fleet: Off Cape Gatta on the Coast of Spain, they took a Turkish Corsair carrying 130 Men, who being made Slaves are divided among the several Ships of the Squadron.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 4.

Venice, Aug. 21. On the 16th Instant, a Convoy sailed, to transport to Dalmatia 600 Swiss Soldiers, with Stores of Ammunition and Provisions. The same Evening arrived a Felucca, which came from Zara on the 12th of this Month, with Advice, that the Proveditore-General of Dalmatia was not set out from Scardona for Termis, where our Army lay; but that a strong Party having advanced two Days into the Enemy's Country, had not met any Opposition, because of the March of the Turkish Troops towards Belgrade, whither they had been ordered; so that the Party returned with 8000 Head of Cattle. 3000 Germans were to imbark on the Coast of Dalmatia, to be transported to Corfu, where 'tis believed the last Convoys which sailed from hence, are arrived. Another Convoy is getting ready in our Arsenal.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 4.

Venice, Aug. 21. On the 27th we received by the Way of Otranto an Express dispatched by the Captain-General Pisani, with Letters from our Fleet dated the 4th of this Month, giving an Account, that on the 29th past our Flotilla had attempted to surprize that of the Turks in the Road of Guin; but failed in it, because of the great Fire which the Infidels made from several Batteries that they had raised, as well on the Terra-firma as on the Shore of the Isle of Corfu: That however our Galeasses plyed the Turkish Vessels so hard with their Cannon, that they sunk two of their Galliots, disabled a Galley, and damaged some of their Ships of the Line. That the Turkish Land-Forces had approached the Town of Corfu; had made Lines of Circumvallation and Contravallation, and then attacked with great Vigour the Eminence called Abraham; that our Men defended it with great Bravery five Days; but that at length the Infidels carried it, as also the Eminence of St. Salvator: That on the latter they raised two Batteries, from which they had begun to batter the Place; and that they had carried on their Approaches to the Pallisades of the Counterscarp: That General Schulenbourg who commands in it, made a vigorous Sally on the 1st Instant with 900 Men, who killed or wounded 3000 of the Turks, with the Loss of 300 Men killed or wounded, and filled up great Part of their Trenches: That there is in the Town a Garrison of 5000 Men, who are to be reinforced by 3000 more: And that our Fleet having been joyned by the Ships and Gallies of the Pope, the Order of Malta, the Great Duke of Tuscany, and the Republick of Genoa, waited only for a fair Wind to attack that of the Turks.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 4.

Vienna, Aug. 22. Several Barks laden with a great Number of Bombs, Grenadoes, Tools for breaking up Ground, and other Materials proper for a Siege, are newly sent down the Danube from hence. We have Advice from Buda of the 18th Instant, that the St. Joseph Man of War had followed the two others towards Peterwaradin; and that the Land-Carriages were getting ready there, for the Artillery and Ammunition. The Stormy Weather has done great Damage to the Vines about Tockay. We have Advice from the Save, that the Imperial Collonel Petrasch, has in several Skirmishes beaten the Turks in the adjacent Country, and taken from them two Colours, two Pair of Kettle-Drums, with abundance of Cattle, freed from Slavery about 200 Christians, possessed himself on the other Side of the Save of Brod, Cobaz, Dobotschiz, and other Places; and and is ſince marched to attack Gradiſca. Some Advices ſay the Seraſkier of Belgrade is made Grand Vizier, and has rallied the Forces of the Infidels, pretending to make Head againſt the Imperialiſts.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Sept. 4.

From the Imperial Army commanded by Prince Eugene, Aug. 15. On the 12th we had Advice from Count Palfi, that he had not been able to paſs the Tibiſcus at Sablia, becauſe the Waters were out; but that he was marching to paſs that River near Zenta. On the 13th Orders were given to the Army to march, and for every Regiment to take 12 Days Proviſions with them. On the 14th the whole Army decamped at Two in the Morning, taking their march towards Zenta, and the ſame Day encamped near the Place called the Bridge on the Moraſs. At the ſame time our Bridge of Boats were ſent down the Danube, with ſome Boats laden with Proviſions and Artillery, under a Guard of 1000 Men. All theſe Boats are to enter the Tibiſcus near Titul, and to paſs up to Zenta. According to the Route ſettled, our Army will have all paſſed the Tibiſcus on the 18th Inſtant, and arrive the 22d or 23d near Temiſwaer.

Letters from Segedin of the 16th of Auguſt, ſay General Palfi had actually paſſed the Tibiſcus near Zenta, with ſeveral Thouſand Men, and that he had inveſted Temiſwaer.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 4.

Copenhagen, Aug. 25. The Swediſh Fleet is retired into Carlſcroon; but the Swedes give out that 'tis only to revictual, and that they will put to Sea again and attack the Fleet of the Northern Allies, how numerous ſoever. We can ſee from hence, in clear Weather, the Army which the Swedes have drawn together in Schonen, and which extends along the Coaſt from Helſingbourg to Lands-kroon, to oppoſe the intended Deſcent.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Sept. 5.

Hambourg, Sept. 1. Letters from Copenhagen continue to mention the extraordinary Preparations made for the Deſcent on Schonen; and tell us that ſome Deſerters who had eſcaped in a Boat from Schonen, reported, that the Swediſh Army in that Province is above 30000 Men ſtrong, beſides the Troops expected from the Frontier of Norway. On the 29th paſt the Czar arrived at Stralſund, and gave Order for imbarking the Cavalry there on the ſecond Inſtant.
